Acknowledgements WRD

The World Register of Dams (WRD) is a magnificent source of information for design, construction, scientific work and statistical evaluations. It gives reference on dams of the world. It is one of the pillars of the international dam community and a show window to public with very high importance as well for ICOLD as for the National Committees in member and non-member countries.

According to the terms of reference of the Committee on the World Register of Dams and Documentation (WRDD) 2004 - 2011 the updating process for the second update 2006 of the fourth edition 1998 started with a questionnaire about the value of the WRD for users. The evaluation of the questionnaire showed very positive feedback from the users but showed their demands also, like

- ▶ improve the handling of WRD,
- ▶ improve the correctness and reliability of information,
- ▶ care for world wide and river basin-wide evaluation possibilities.

The committee members tried very hard to fulfill the updating process

While every care has been taken by the National Committees and responsible in collecting and recording the information furnished, neither the Central Office of ICOLD nor the National Committees and responsible can take any responsibility for any errors or omissions which might have occurred in the Update 2006 of the WRD. We owe our apologies to those who may feel slighted due to such errors or omissions.

My cordial thanks go for Vice-Chairman P. le Delliou and all committee members as well as for Central Office, who were busily involved with a huge amount of work. My sincerest thanks go also for all responsible persons in the National Committees and responsible.
